MONUSEN

Bio

Igor Radusinovic holds a BSc from the University of Montenegro (1994) and MSc/PhD in telecommunication networks from the University of Belgrade (1997, 2003). He has been a professor at the University of Montenegro since 2013, with prior roles as teaching assistant, Assistant professor, Associate Professor, and as Head of the Department of Communications, Head of the Computer Center, and Head of the Study program of Electronics, Telecommunications, and Computers. He is also a member of the Management Board and Senate of the university. He has published over 150 scientific papers and is a reviewer for international journals. He is the coordinator of the European-funded MONtenegrin center for Underwater SEnsor Networks (MONUSEN) project. His research interests include Software Defined Networking, Acoustic communications, Network Function Virtualization, 5G, the Internet of Things, Artificial Intelligence, Tactile Internet, and Blockchain.