

SHORT ABSTRACT

In this talk the recent developments and results for the European research project NETTAG will be presented and discussed. This project addressed the problem of lost fishing gear and the development of technical tools and procedures for its environmental impact minimization in close collaboration with the fishermen community.

The newly approved European project NETTAG+ addressing the further development of previous results and widening of application will also be presented.